NOTICE WAVELAND VOTERS

Statement by Mel Villoro, Candidate for Mayor of Waveland

In announcing my candidacy for mayor of Waveland, I would like to emphasize that there will be no mud slinging criticism of the incumbent. In his 28 years in office, Garfield Lador has worked hard and rendered great service to our town.

Waveland, however, is at the crossroads in its development. Since "Camille" events have been moving at an accelerated rate and the Town needs an aggressive, dynamic and able leader. With my experience, temperament and desire, I believe I can fill that role. Waveland has reached that point where it needs a change from the slow moving pace of yesterday.

I have spent a lot of time conferring with men and women who are interested in a government for Waveland that will adequately take care of its responsibilities for a growing population. Out of those meetings I have decided on a Five Point Plan, that if elected I will endeavor to carry out as closely as is possible.

Point 1- I will definitely use adequate means to keep the people informed of all that transpires at the town meetings.

Point 2- I will appoint advisory committees from our large pool of retired persons who have chosen Waveland for their residence. In this group there are persons who were top flight business executives, professional men, and investment specialists. These men could be of great value in advising in the general administration of the Town government.

Point 3- Evaluate the new Federal and State fund projects from which funds were received.

Point 4- Take care of ditch digging, grass and wood cutting on a continuous basis. Keep Waveland clean and beautiful.

Point 5- Evaluate the function of all employees of Waveland. Keep politics out of this area government.

TO DO THESE THINGS PROPERLY, I NEED YOUR HELP.

WILL YOU HELP ME? ON NOVEMBER 3, 1970

 Statistics from the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) indicate that fire losses have increased until present exceed 12,000 deaths and more than 2.4 billion dollars per year (enough money to rebuild Hancock). The daily toll from fires is estimated to increase each day in the United States to an average of 33 lives lost. Structural damage has taken a toll of 1,055, 183 apartments, 20 churches and colleges, 10 churches, 22 hospitals and nursing homes, 111 farm buildings, 100 industrial plants and 219 stores and buildings per day," the NFPA said. "Our Hancock firemen are risking lives for lack of self-protecting breathing mask resuscitators. He also pointed out that for a Central Fire Alarm Co. Frislow said: "We combine fire alarm and in one spot without phone lines instead of many to the fire departments. He believes one central main unit for the entire town would make it possible to make immediate repairs to all. "This," explained Frislow, "would require a drilling of certain parts, should be a wrench service at least a standby 24-hour program." Frislow said the firemen in Hancock at the meetings Friday all men with the exception of Terry Holmes and were from the Clermont Harbor area and included Frislow, Jimmy Johnson, Charles Jackson, Francis, Fritz Garcia, John Lawrence Peterson, Haverdy, August Usher, Leonard Rupp, Frank Klein, Robert Peterson, Jr., Louis Eugene Duffillo, Howard and Lee Klein. Frislow praised the unselfishness of firemen who met early and rebuilt a fire in District One (Bay Park). "This work was published in one week," Frislow said. Officers of the Hancock Fire Fighters include Frislow, John, Vice President Louis La Tour, Secretary George Frislow, and First Chief Frislow. These men are working on improving fire fighting equipment within the county and Frislow said Hancock County legislature may be able to fire district, that fire rates may be improved and fire rates reduced for re-

Will Elect Officers At Next Meeting

The Hancock Association for Retarded Children has announced an election of officers meeting to be held Monday, October 26 at the Children's Center School, Valena C. Jones School. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Zelma Stelz, association president, has extended an invitation to all persons interested in the development of the training center to attend the meeting. Association members have a number of projects on the agenda to increase the school's facilities, as well as development of the association in regard to membership and desperately needed funding. There are now 22 children enrolled in the Children's Center classes, which meet daily in the back wing of Valena C. Jones. It has been estimated that there are in excess of 600 retarded children and young adults in all of Hancock County, most of whom are not receiving proper training due to a lack of transportation and inadequate facilities. These problems and other considerations were discussed at the last meeting, October 9. It was also decided that regularly scheduled association membership meetings would be held the last Monday of every month, at 7:30 p.m. at the school. All persons interested in aiding the Retarded Children's School are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Presents Special Program

Bay Chapter 129, Order of the Eastern Star, at its regular meeting October 8, presented a special program entitled "Return to the Flock." Each officer and side member who had been attending regularly invited a friend who had been unable to attend because of illness, business or other reasons and each gave their guest a gift as a token of their appreciation. Worthy Matron Ginger Horn presented one of her friends Mrs. Pauline Weston, who had just celebrated her 99th birthday, with a corsage and a gift. The Worthy Matron thanked all members present on this occasion for making the program a success. Mrs. Weston is a past matron and a member of the Eastern Star for 60 years. Fred Horn, past patron, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Ketchum at the piano, closed the program with a rendition entitled, "He". Worthy Matron Horn then invited Mrs. Weston to close the chapter and the group retired to the second floor dining room to honor Mrs. Weston, 99 years young, with a belated birthday.

City Crew Secures Trees

Two ancient live oak trees located on the Beach of Bay St. Louis have recently been secured by a City Crew, according to a report made by Folia Seeger who said 78 yards of fill dirt were required to fill in around the trees located on Ulman Avenue at the Beach and directly across the street from the Gulfview Nursing Home. 112 yards of fill were used on the large tree located directly across from the Merchant's Bank Building. Seeger said creosote bulkheads were planned and installation of these poles would make the foundation more substantial and prevent damages should storm velocity winds occur.

Seeger reported that he and members of the clean up crew had found litter barrels filled with raw garbage. These barrels are intended for paper, cans, cartons and similar types of rubbish. Raw garbage creates objectionable odors and citizens are asked to refrain from putting any odor-causing refuse in these barrels. The barrels are also uncovered and garbage attracts both flies and rats known as infection-causing pests. Seeger said 30 litter barrels have been placed at convenient locations within the City of Bay St. Louis and an additional 16 barrels have been placed from a point starting on the Beach at the Bay Bridge and continuing along the Beach to the end of the corporation limits, Seeger added.

Asks Supervisors For Contribution

On Monday at a regular meeting of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, James Richard Shadoin, president of the Hancock County United Fund, asked for a contribution of a minimum of $1,000.00 as the supervisors' "fair share" in the project. Russell Elliott, president of the Board of Supervisors acknowledged the value of the United Fund through its many services to the community. Shadoin pointed out the disbursements could be made on a quarterly "pledge-card basis". Members of the Board agreed a contribution was in order, however, they declined to designate the amount they would give, pending a close study of the existing budget.

Elected President Of Waveland 4-H

Nancy Evans was elected president of Waveland 4-H Club to replace Linda Moore who has moved to New Orleans, and Vickie Ramsey was named vice president, at last Thursday's meeting.

Beth Gacia offered the devotional and Linda Moore conducted the business session. It was announced the Hancock County Fair will be staged November 2-7.

The group voted to raise funds for the purchase of their 4-H jackets and to make their uniforms which will be entered in the spring dress review.

There were 26 members and leaders, Mrs. Maurice George and Mrs. Henry Stiller attending.

The Junior group will meet at 3 p.m. today in Waveland Methodist Fellowship Hall and the senior group will meet at 4 p.m. November 22.

The Bears of OLG played to the unbeaten, unscored Bobby Bearcats of Long Elementary here this Saturday morning. The running, by seat-back de Moody and FB Pee Weeovich, accounted for the Bearcat scores. Both explosions runs were stopped OLG's defense.

Good defense, by both teams, the game tied up, until the 3rd quarter. A Bearcat pass was picked off by Allen and run in for the OLG score of the day. L.G. almost pulled the game the first into the 4th quarter. The good passing of Bobby Allen, to receivers Ed Black and END Jimmyay, along with the hard low by Black, brought OLG Bearcat's 0-yard line, a final whistle blow.

to Questions about United Fund?

What is the Hancock County United Fund?

The Hancock County United Fund is a fund-raising and service organization which belongs to the People of Hancock County. It represents their contributions in a single campaign, held each October, for twelve worthy agencies supported by the fund. This eliminates the need to contribute to twelve separate campaigns. Who operates the Hancock County United Fund?

A Board of Directors, all volunteers, elected by the contributors each year in January, when a general report on the organization is given to the people. The Hancock County United Fund is controlled and operated by its own local citizens.

Who benefits from the Hancock County United Fund?
ALL OF THE PEOPLE LIVING IN HANCOCK COUNTY
BENEFIT FROM THE HANCOCK COUNTY UNITED FUND.

How many agencies in Hancock County get assistance from United Fund?

There are twelve agencies who benefit. They include: American Red Cross, Hancock County Retarded Children's Association, Catholic Charities, Inc., Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Gulf Coast Mental Health Association, Hancock County Blood Bank, Camp Onward, United Service Organization, and Traveler's Aid Association of America.

L&N Celebrates Anniversary

October marks the 100th anniversary of the building of one of the Gulf Coast's biggest assets -- the railroad line.

On October 29, 1870, a spike driving ceremony was held near Lake Catherine, La., at which time silver and gold spikes were driven signifying completion of the railroad known as New Orleans, Mobile & Chattanooga.

The line ran 140 miles between the two cities and when it began carrying passengers and freight on November 21, 1870, it made obsolete the 18-hour trip by intercoastal steamer. The trains made it in five hours, an unheard of speed in those days.

Many efforts to span the distances between the two cities had been made, some as early as the 1850's. It remained, however, for a group of Yankees, who came down from New York and New England, to form a holding company through which the money flowed for financing construction.

A ceremonial ground breaking took place in March 1867, but actual construction didn't begin until February 3, 1869. The Mobile newspapers, mentioning the event said: "Crews of the railroad commenced work a short distance from Virginia Street and Magnolia Cemetery this morning."

Chief engineer on the construction project was Henry Van Vleck, who previously had surveyed the entire line, announced that the road would cost $3,500,000, a figure that was to double before the line was actually completed.

Van Vleck contracted for the line to be built in 31 sections, each approximately five miles in length. In the marshy areas, dredges cut parallel ditches roughly 100 feet apart and filled in between them with sand and soil. Wood pilings were driven through these fills in order to stabilize the road-bed. By the end of 1869 over 80 miles of track had been finished, most of it between Mobile, Pascagoula and Bay St. Louis.

Included in the construction plans were more than seven miles of bridges and trestles. Railroad engineers went out into the surrounding forests and cut long, solid poles of yellow pine, red and black cypress for pilings to use in the trestle work, and sawmills at Pearl River, Gainsville and Mississippi City, turned out nearly a half million cross-ties. To protect the wood, these materials were soaked with generous portions of creosote, a new method of treating timber to combat the little marine borer known as teredo navalis.

Creosoting was the answer all right, but soaking the timbers in it was not enough. Within nine months, an inspection revealed that the teredo had worked right through the thin veneer of creosote and all the timbers bridges and trestles were in danger of collapse and many hundreds of cross-ties were in need of replacement.

From A to Z

By Bibb D. Philie

As this writer, R.S. Colling, is guest contributor to this week's City-County Library column, Colling is a relatively new-comer to the Gulf Coast country. He was born in Oil City, Pennsylvania and worked with the National Broadcasting Company in New York for a number of years. Always interested in history, Colling, who retired and homesteaded for the past two years near Bayou LaCrosse, is the author of two books: "Deep Enough and Seven Shocks on a Lonely Road."

His article "As It Was In The Beginning" reflects his interest in and knowledge of this section of the country.

As IT WAS IN THE BEGINNING

By E. S. Colling

Anyone coming for the first time to the Pearl River and Hancock County section of the Gulf Coast will be interested, and probably surprised, to learn that this area has a history more varied and romantic than that of almost any other part of the United States. Some sections had Indian troubles, others had armed conflict and the devastation of war, still others had lawlessness of brigands, pirates and gangs of desperadoes; the Pearl River country knew all of them; its people battled Indian raiders, pirate gangs and bands of ruthless robbers and road-agents and witnessed columns of marching foot soldiers, cavalry and artillery; they suffered floods and storms as violent as any today; and through it all they built an area as thriving and prosperous as any in the country.

In his excellent book, "Pearl River, Highway to Glory" S.G. Thigpen makes two wise suggestions. First, that more emphasis be given to the historical background of Hancock County in our schools so that today's young people may know the life of our community, and second, that suitable markers be placed at the scenes of many of these events.

The first of these markers should, of course, be placed at the site of the Burnt Meeting House, for it was here that local government began. People had to do long and hard traveling to get to this spot a few miles north of present Pitkin, where local settlers had erected a log house for use as church, school and meeting place. The Meeting House, as it was called, burned but was quickly rebuilt and was known thereafter as the Burnt Meeting House. Here in the early Spring of 1811 settlers from all over the Pearl River and coastal areas met to formulate requests to the Mississippi Territorial Legislature for the establishment of a new county to be named in honor of John Hancock, signer of the Declaration of Independence, with the county seat at the site of the old Indian town known as Center. This gathering of settlers at the Burnt Meeting House sent a delegation to the Legislature, and the requests were granted. Thus was the original Hancock County born, a huge area which included most of the southern part of Mississippi.

The area chosen by the delegates for the county seat was, as the name indicates, almost in the exact center of the new county, a beautiful spot which had been used for many years by the Indians as a gathering place and to which trails and roads led from every section. It lay at the foot of gently rising ground between two quick-running streams, Catohoula Creek and Playground Branch, where the Indians played their ball games and held their ceremonial dances. This place also should be identified by a marker.

A large log building was erected here for use as a courthouse and offices for the various county departments, and the county government began to function late in 1811. Houses were built for the county employees and other settlers, stores and an inn were added, and within a few months a lively little village was in operation. All around were Indian wigwags, and it has been estimated that at one time as many as 1500 Choctaw Indians lived at Center. One of the interesting features of old Center was the jail, a large deep pit into which a prisoner was introduced by way of a ladder through a hole in the stout board covering, when the ladder was removed food and water were lowered to the miscreant by a rope and he was left to contemplate his sins.

Center was the scene of some interesting civil, as well as criminal trials, as in the old days there were many disputes over land titles, in spite of the fair policy adopted by the government of allowing the early settlers to take title to the lands they had settled on and developed despite previous land grants by the various foreign countries whose flags had flown over the territory before the United States acquired it. By 1836 the town of Gainesville had become the most important settlement in the county because of its active river trade and thriving lumber industry, and in that year the seat of government was moved there; Center quickly faded into a ghost town, and over the years its ruined buildings and streets were overgrown with trees and bushes. Today it is very difficult to find even a trace of the old town which once was such an important factor in Hancock County life, and for this reason a marker placed at the site of the old courthouse would be a real historical interest.

Dr. Ambrose Gaines came to a tiny settlement called Cottonport on the Pearl River in 1810 and was given a grant for 500 acres by the United States Government. He was an active businessman and quickly realized the importance of the site on the bluff above the river. He granted to the many squatters and settlers the little parcels of land they lived on and then proceeded to develop a town, first called Gaines Bluff and then changed to Gainesville. Settlers were coming into the area in goodly numbers and the alert doctor quickly laid out a townsite and sold lots to the newcomers, soon becoming a wealthy man for those times. By 1830 when the county seat was moved there from old Center, the logging and lumber business was booming and Gainesville had become the shopping center for the people in most of Hancock County. More and more ships put in there to load logs and lumber for buyers in New Orleans and down the coast as far as Mobile.

Had another swell weekend for hunting and fishing. No rain, not too cold and not too much wind. In other words, it was good for most any kind of sport.

This year's rabbit and squirrel season has been good. I haven't heard of any real tough chrysids yet. Learned from those scouting the woods that squirrel food, mainly acorns, hickory, maple, locust, etc., is still plentiful. You can find some acorns in the woods around here. You can find some acorns in the woods around here. You can find some acorns in the woods around here.

son opened. This area is a State Reservation and ideal for hunting the bushy trails.

Al Baudry is still bowling with his team. He looks forward to bowling nights, his favorite sport. Pretty good in throwing horseshoes, too, on a par.

Uncle Bud Satter is doing quite a bit of fishing these days. Last week he went with Lou Williams and caught two flounders and 200 crockers. He and Jimmy George have been catching their share of fish also.

Someone said, she was tottering on the brink when she downed her seventh drink.

Emile Schindler says he is still getting a few whiffs off the squirrel but they are getting scarce. Mrs. Schindler enjoys helping Emile catch the shrimp.

Don B. Kearney, a retired sergeant who works for Mont-

Carver, likes to catch hard crabs. He has been getting some nice ones lately. Dan also likes to fish.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Creel do quite a bit of hard crabbing. Like others, they said the crabs are not giving like they were. Must be letting up or heading for deeper water.

Joe, Caspell and young son, J. Joe, caught some nice speckle trout in Bayou LeCroux Sunday morning. Joe told us they were not too big, but nice pan size. Should pick up in size.

W. Doyle Lee who lives on the Jourdan gets his share of green trout and speckles. Being retired, he goes quite often. Said he is now catching speckles.

Bill Jordan who works for Tut Mont, caught a nice batch of speckles, flounders and bull crockers over the week-end in Jourdan River. Bill said they were hitting like nobody's business.

For Seuzenau doesn't care much about fishing, etc. Watching football is her favorite pastime. She is a staunch supporter of the Ole Miss Rebels.

Archibald Hart, Remember? The caught most anything.

Mike Stewart has completed his first week of basketball training. He is stationed at Fort Polk in the Army. Hello, Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Stewart.

Understand that these are the best times of the year. Keep your dogs well penned with a strong lock on the gate. It is expensive to keep a dog the year round to have it stolen just when the seasons open.

For those who don't know, squirrels are found mostly along the banks of streams and in thickets and ravines that are well wooded. Around daylight and late in the afternoon is the best time for hunting them.

Rabbits can be hunted most any old time, except at night when shining is illegal. Both rabbits and squirrels should be hunted as soon as killed.

Remember to get permission from owners before going into private fields. Be sure all gates are closed to keep cattle from getting out. Do this and you can probably go back again.

Be sure to know what you are shooting at before pulling the trigger.

Both amateur and professional hunters should be sure that game and birds are within range before being shot at. Many are only wounded and later die. Don't be a nut. Be a good sport and give the game a chance.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnell Burch of Jackson are both hunters and fishermen. They have the same day off from work and you can bet they can be found in the woods, either fishing or hunting. Burnell is a valued employee of the Food Center in Jackson.

Was a pleasure meeting a real sportsman, George Sumrall. He hails from Clinton, Miss. Does most of his fishing and hunting in that neck of the woods.

New Pastor
Brother H. O. Sullivan of Gulfport is the new pastor at the Old Spanish Trail Baptist Church on Highway 90. Sunday school begins at 9:45. Sunday morning services are at 11:00 a.m. and Sunday night services are at 7:30 p.m. All members and visitors are cordially invited to attend these services.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK
TUT MONTI is one of our best and best fishermen. He has been catching a lot of speckle trout in Bayou LeCroux. He is going back to dove hunting, after quite a lay off. Rather tough on the little fast-flying birds, too.

Woods. Told me of some good places to hunt and fish while in Jackson. Thanks, buddy. See you later.

Enjoyed seeing a real high school football game in Jackson between St. Joseph of that city and St. Aloysius of Vicksburg. St. Joe came from behind, 21 to 0 at the half, to lose by 28 to 24. Was a hard game to lose.

Julie Baudry, our granddaughter, and Sheila Mullory are members of the St. Joseph Rebel Belles. Two pretty Belles and staunch supporters.

There was plenty banging going on around the Ross Barnett Reservoir area last Saturday when the squirrel season opened.

PRC Looks For Victory

Still stinging from their 23-12 defeat at the hands of East Mississippi, the Pearl River Junior College Wildcats will host the Hinds Eagles in their first Homecoming at PRC.

Looking for their first win of the season Hinds will be trying hard for a win over PRC in the hopes of avenging their last year's 22-14 loss to the River. Also a win over the Wildcats, who until last week's loss to East Mississippi was No. 1 in the Nation, would be a real morale booster for the Hinds Squad.

Kick-off is at 8:00 p.m. in Doble Holden Stadium.

Meet The Coaches

by Marlon Maher, Staff Writer

It takes more than one man to coach a high school football team. This is the belief of Terry Randolph, head football coach at Hancock North Central. "The administration, teachers and students at North Central have become very interested in football and show a great enthusiasm for our team," Randolph added. "Success will come with the combined effort of the administration and the coaches."

After graduating from Bay High where he played quarterback for the Tiger team, Randolph went to Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge on a football scholarship. When L.S.U. cancelled the boxing program, he transferred to the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg, graduating from there in 1962.

Before coming to Hancock North Central in 1969, Randolph coached football teams at Hattiesburg High School in Hattiesburg, Alabama, West Jefferson High in New Orleans and Madison Ridgeland High School in Jackson, Mississippi.

Randolph returned to Hancock County after an absence of fifteen years. "When I began coaching at H.N.C. I knew that it would be a challenge to build up the football program and to develop a winning team," Randolph said.

He noted that the newly formed H.N.C. Quarterback Club has not only promoted the team but has given financial assistance as well. "It is this kind of encouragement that will help our boys do their best," he added.

Coch Randolph is married to the former Margie Daniel. They reside in Waveland, Mississippi.

Hancock Hawks Top St. John 34-14

Fullback Gilbert James carried three touchdowns, rushed for 113 yards and intercepted two passes as Hancock North Central defeated St. John's of Gulfport 34-14.

Hancock's J. W. Rawls upped his career rushing to a total of 713 yards for six games. Rawls set up the first Hawk touchdown in the first period on a 42 yard run to the St. John 15.

A few plays later O'Neil Cuvvas moved into scoring territory on a fumble recovery at the Eagle 17.

St. John hit the scoreboard in the second period as fullback Lee McElroy was shaken loose from the pigskin at the eight yard line and the ball to cover in the end zone for the Hawk. McElroy then carried off to the end zone for a 21-0 lead.

James took over and carried the ball 10 yards for a touchdown. Cuvvas added a two point conversion and the Hawks led 22-0.

A few plays later the Hawks recovered a fumble deep in St. John territory and James drove in from the eight. The Hawks failed to convert but carried a 28-0 lead into the dressing room at halftime.

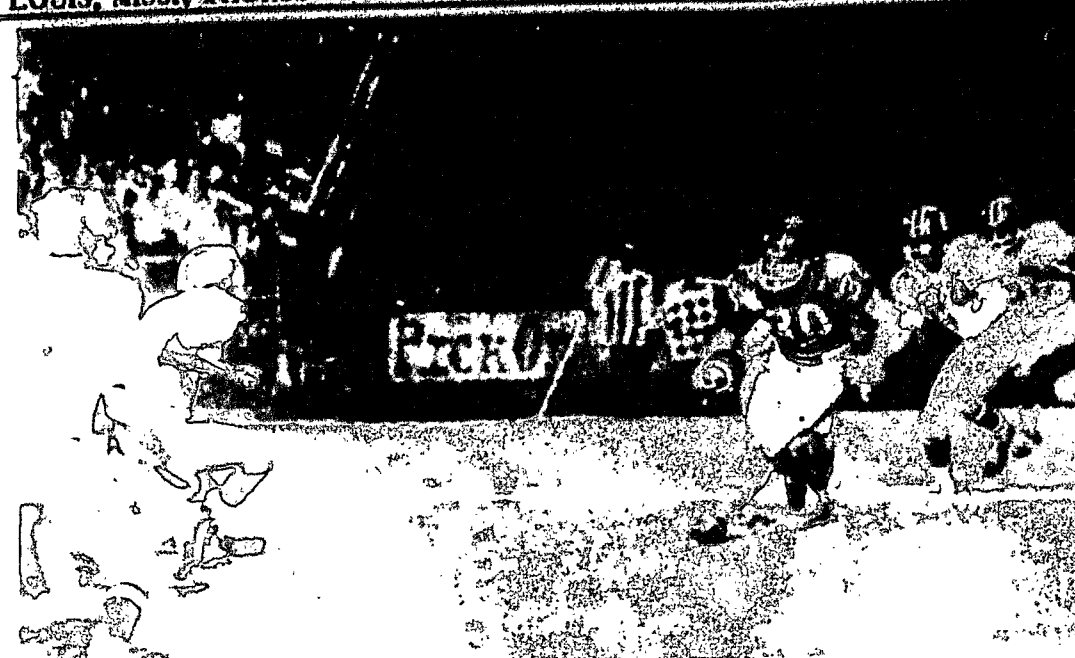

Cuvvas picked up the final score for the Hawks in the fourth period as he went over from the two after Dale Lee put the Hawks in business in St. John territory on a pass interception.

St. John's final score came on a 52-yard pass from quarterback Tim Carriga to Keith Steele with 15 seconds left in the game.

Hancock quarterback Mitchell Haverd led an inspired Hawk team to a victory that gave them a 2-2 record.

This Friday H.N.C. faces McElain whose record is 6-0. McElain has scored a total of 220 points against their opponents. The game will be played away.

Hawk coach Terry Randolph cited Jeff Larsen, Rocky Gaudin, James, Dale Lee, Ricky Lee, and George Oliver for HALFBACK NORMAN COWARD (30) carries the ball for St. Stanislaus Friday night in the game against Kennedy High School of New Orleans. Stanislaus was defeated 31-6.

Tigers Down Long Beach 22-6

The Bay St. High Tigers rode a balanced offensive attack and a stingy pass defense to a 22-6 Gulf Coast Conference victory over the Long Beach Bearcats Friday night at Tiger Stadium.

The Tigers jumped on the board early in the second period when quarterback Gary Blaize found halfback Eric Lymuel in the open for 25 yards and a touchdown. The Bearcat defense stopped the attempt for a 2 point conversion.

The staunch Tiger defense then held the Bearcats and only four minutes later speedy halfback Steve Allain raced 40 yards for a T.D. Blaize fired to ace wide receiver Mike Lymuel for two points and the Tigers led 14-0 at halftime.

Bay H rounded out their scoring midway through the third quarter when Allain ran the ball in from the Bearcat 15 yard line. Blaize then whipped a pass to Tiger stand-out Wes McFarland for the two point conversion.

Long Beach put their points on the board when they blocked a Tiger punt and scored four plays later on a 10 yard run by quarterback Ralph Ladner. A pass to Paul Benton added two points.

Coach J. E. Lolacano's Tigers, now 3-2-1, venture across town this week to take on school rival St. Stanislaus.

St. Stanislaus Loses To Kennedy High 31-6

The Saint Stanislaus Rockchaw lost to John Kennedy High last Friday night at their homecoming by the score of 31 to 6. Kennedy got on the scoreboard first when quarterback Matt Lutz gave to Fullback Wreck Dumas who went off tackle 11 yards. The extra point attempt was blocked by Jimmy Gonzalez.

Later in the second quarter, David Worrell passed to Richard Macburn for 9 yards and a rockchaw T.D. The tactic obligable play was the lone score to St. Stanislaus as the E.P. was blocked. With the ball changing hands several times, the second quarter ended with the score 6-6.

The Cougars came back in the 3rd, and 4th, quarter to score 27-6. The first coming with 1:11 left in the 3rd quarter. Halfback Greg Almgood raced 14 yds. around end. The extra point attempt was no good. Later in the same quarter, the Rock's punt attempt was blocked by Kelvin Shultz who picked up the loose ball and carried it 21 yds. for Kennedy's 3rd Touch down.

Early in the fourth quarter, after a 48 yd. drive, Almgood made his second T.D. good when Worrell passed to Matt and Tom Kelly in the end zone. The pass was incomplete and St. Stanislaus gave up the ball. The last drive from Kennedy came
